Art Unit: 3738

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 60-62, 64, 66, 67, 83, and 84 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Melvin, US 5,957,977. Regarding claim 83 and others, Melvin discloses securing a ring 56 “suprajacent” the in situ mitral valve annulus in the left atrium 16 (column 4, line 66, to column 5, line 3; column 8, lines 8-12), securing a first elongate member 86 to a wall of natural heart 10 via yoke 70 (column 5, lines 55-58; column 8, lines 34-36; Figures 2 and 4), disposing at a distal portion of said member 86 a first anchoring structure in the form of a polyester bead (column 5, lines 32-34), and similarly securing a second elongate member 86 (with an anchoring bead that is discrete from the first member bead) to an opposing heart wall. Regarding claim 66, the third elongate member corresponds to the septal frame 53 or to another (third) one of the cords 86. Regarding claim 84, drawing papillary muscles toward the in situ mitral valve would have been inherent from the tightening of the cords or elongate members 86 (column 8, lines 40-43).

Art Unit: 3738

Claims 68 and 85-88 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Melvin, US 5,957,977. Passing one or more of the cords or elongate members 86 through a base of a papillary muscle would have been obvious in order to help ensure proper functioning of the in situ mitral valve, with the ordinary practitioner having been motivated by Melvin's concern for maintaining the chordae in a proper configuration (column 5, lines 14-15; column 2, lines 51-54).

Applicant's remarks have been considered and are adequately addressed in the grounds of rejection above.

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 (MPEP § 706.07(b)). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3738
